SKI RESORTS IN SLOVENIA

#sloveniaoutdoor | #ifeelsLOVEnia

Slovenia has a very long skiing tradition. Movement on snow with the help of skis at Velike Bloke was first mentioned in the 17th century (Janez Vajkad Valvasor: Glory of the Duchy of Carniola).

Sporting and recreational skiing spread to our nation in the early 20th century from the neighbouring Alpine countries, and experienced a real boom after the Second World War. It most flourished in the 1970s and 1980s, when nearly a fifth of the population were skiers. Slovenia then became a real skiing country, and the Slovenians a skiing nation.

Slovenia currently has up to 50 ski resorts that operate in winters rich with snow.

In the last decade, the large mountain ski centres have expanded their services to the whole year. Hiking and themed trails, adrenalin and biking parks have been built, as well as tracks on which cyclists can take wild rides down into the valley, while the cableway installations offer fast and comfortable ascents. On hot summer days mountain centres offer visitors a diverse range of pleasant accommodation at high altitudes, enabling guests to enjoy the fresh air.

Most of the mountain ski centres are in the northern part of Slovenia, with the Julian and the Kamnik-Savinja Alps stretching in the north-west and north, the Karawanks mountain range on the border with Austria, and the Pohorje Mountains in the northeast. Relatively short distances and a good road infrastructure enable visitors to enjoy winter as well as summer activities in practically all our mountain centres. There are also ski passes available for most of the centres. Visitors who fly to Slovenia by plane can arrive at the nearest pistes of Krvavec to ski or enjoy summer mountain activities in less than an hour after the landing.
